Delivering solutions for a brighter future.

Dear Mr. Gilliland:

I want to thank you for an inspired message delivered to our employee group last Thursday. Even after a very full day, it was obvious that your enthusiasm was contagious among our people, and I can't remember concluding a meeting with as much laughter and positive follow-up comments.

As I suspected, the evaluation forms ranked your presentation as the highlight of our Communications and Customer Relations program. More than one attendee indicated that Co-Alliance absolutely must have you back to speak to future employee groups.

Your message about enjoying the ride, having a passion for what you do, and a sense of humor along the way really struck a cord with our group!

Again, thank you. As you already know, my boss and I both appreciate your willingness to hold a future date this spring for another employee gathering we are still planning. I realize we put you on the spot to check your calendar right then, but we did not want to miss the opportunity. Even as we finalize the many other details of that event, I'm certain another presentation from you will be a perfect fit for the evening keynote presentation to employees and their spouses.

Thanks again, on behalf of the Co-Alliance team.

Regards,
