PENNSYLVANIA STATE ASSOCIATION OF COUNTY FAIRS

Dear Steve,

You were at the top of your craft in delivery to the delegates from the 117 Pennsylvania Fairs. We have had so many compliments about staying passionate and focused. One delegate said, "this was what I needed in respect to family, work place, and community." Another delegate felt after seventy minutes of on-the-edge-of-your-seat listening, he wished you would have spoken for another twenty minutes. Another participant indicated you left so many positive nuggets throughout your presentation that she spent the next several days recalling all the gems placed so subtly in your speech.

Fairs are about people volunteering to serve others in so many capacities. You had childhood experiences from the Greater Butler Fair which endeared you to this particular audience. However, your passion for people and psychology of understanding them could be conveyed to any audience. Your message is about feeling good about yourself, and extending that good feeling to all you meet.

Steve, your DNA and Sunday school teacher (in this case, your mother) gave you a very unique gift, so tell it to the ages. You are making a difference, and we are overjoyed about the difference you made at the Hershey Convention Center.

Sincerely,
